NOTIFICATION

Code of Conduct for Candidates in the Examination Hall

1. Strict Prohibition of Unauthorized Materials

Carrying any unauthorized materials, such as notes, written papers, or electronic devices, into the exam hall is strictly forbidden.

2. Avoid Communication

Communicating with other students, whether verbally, through gestures, or by exchanging notes, during the examination is considered a violation.

3. No Mobile Phones or Smart Devices

Mobile phones, smartwatches, or any other electronic devices capable of storing or transmitting information are not allowed in the examination hall unless explicitly permitted.

4. Follow Exam Supervisor Instructions

Students must comply with all instructions from invigilators, or supervisors without argument or delay.

5. No Proxy or Impersonation

Writing an exam for someone else or having someone else write an exam on your behalf is a serious offense.

6. Do Not Tamper with Question Booklets

Altering, tearing, marking or annotating the question booklet in a manner not permitted is considered misconduct. Underlining passages are allowed but not underlining, marking, ticking, or circling of answers in the booklet.

7. Timely Reporting of Errors

If you find errors in your question booklet (such as unprinted pages, blank/missing pages) or OMR sheet, inform the invigilator immediately.

8. No Late Entry or Early Exit Without Permission

Entering the exam hall beyond the time limit prescribed by the Consortium or leaving before the designated time without permission is considered a breach of rules.

9. Exceptions for PWD candidates

Based on the needs of PWD candidates special exceptions are given which are communicated to the invigilators and in case of any such privilege denied, the student can insist to talk to the Centre Superintendent or Observers from the Regional Centres.

10. Report Suspected Cheating

If you observe any unfair practices, report them to the invigilator instead of engaging in or ignoring them. Protect the integrity of the examination process or you will be losing your own entry to the NLU

Note: Breaching any of these guidelines may result in severe penalties, such as cancellation of the exam or other disciplinary action including criminal cases. Always adhere to the principles of honesty and integrity.
